Departments may, nonetheless, adopt more inclusive definitions of voting rights for departmental matters other than appointment, renewal, promotion, and tenure.

Article II
The Faculty Council

A. Purpose and Responsibilities

The Faculty Council shall be the representative body of the Peabody College Faculty for the purposes of (a) advising the Dean on all matters of educational policy and programs; (b) expressing authoritative, collective faculty opinion about College affairs, faculty-administration relations, and any other topic of common concern; and (c) coordinating Faculty consideration of issues brought to the attention of the Faculty Council by motion at Faculty Meetings, communication from administrative officers, departments, or individual Faculty members, or reports and recommendations of standing and ad hoc committees. The Faculty Council reports its decisions to the Faculty; these decisions shall stand unless disapproved by the Faculty.

B. Membership

1. The Faculty Council shall consist of one member elected by each of the departments of the College, four at-large members, and the Dean Ex Officio. The four at-large members shall not be from the same department.
2. Members of the Council shall be elected for a three-year term. To ensure continuity, terms shall be staggered so that one-third of the Council is elected each academic year.

3. Any voting member of the Faculty who is not serving as a central administrative officer of the College is eligible for election to the Council and there shall be no limitation on re-election.

C. Elections

1. Each voting member of the Faculty shall have one vote for the Faculty Council position to be filled in his/her primary department and one for each at-large position. Candidates shall be elected according to the highest number of votes received at the closing date of the election.

2. Elections for at-large members and departmental representatives shall be held sequentially, with elections for at-large members conducted first. Elections shall be held during the spring semester for terms expiring that year and elected members shall take their place on the Council in the subsequent fall semester. Special elections for vacated seats on the Council may be held at any time, as needed.

3. Elections for membership on Faculty Council shall be held as follows. First, a list of faculty members eligible to be nominated and a nominating ballot shall be circulated to the entire Voting Faculty (for election of at-large members) or the Voting Faculty in the respective department (for election of departmental representatives) so that each voting member can select the names of three nominees for each vacant seat. Faculty members shall be given five working days to return the nominating ballots. After the close of nominations, the three persons per vacant seat receiving the most nominations and agreeing to serve if elected shall be determined and an election ballot containing those names shall be distributed to the appropriate voting body. Faculty members shall have five working days to return the election ballot. If a tie occurs on the nominating ballot, more than three names per vacant seat may appear on the election ballot. If fewer than three persons per seat are nominated, the number of names appearing on the election ballot shall be reduced accordingly. If only one person is nominated for a seat, that person shall be declared “elected” without further voting.

4. In the event that a Council member cannot complete, or chooses not to complete, her/his term, a new departmental or at-large election, as appropriate, shall be conducted to fill the unexpired term.

D. Meetings

1. Regular Council Meetings shall be held monthly during the academic year. Special Meetings may be called by the Chair.

2. Robert’s Rules of Order shall be the rules for conducting business in the meetings of the Faculty Council, except as modified by alternative procedures adopted by the Council or described below.

3. A majority of voting members of the Council shall constitute a quorum to conduct business.

4. A closed session may be called by the Chair for any Regular or Special Meeting of the Faculty Council, or any part thereof, with or without prior notification. Only elected members of Faculty Council shall participate in a closed session.

5. Unless a closed session is called by the Chair of the Faculty Council, all meetings of the Council shall be open to members of the Faculty. Faculty members who are not Council members may attend Council meetings as observers but shall not actively participate in the Council’s deliberations except during periods designated for open discussion or when explicitly requested to do so by the Chair.

E. Resources and Support

Faculty Council shall be provided with the resources necessary to fulfill its obligations as part of the College’s customary support for faculty duties and responsibilities. These resources should include staff support to assist in carrying out elections and taking and distributing the minutes of Faculty Council and Faculty Meetings, and office space in which to store the minutes and other records of the Faculty Council.

Council liaison to the Dean. The Executive Committee shall meet regularly to help plan meeting agendas and consider issues that promote Faculty interests. All activities in which the Executive Committee engages shall be reported to the Council at its next regularly scheduled meeting. The Executive Committee shall have no decision-making or policy-making power except that specifically granted to it by the Council.

A directive for a mail ballot shall require a two-thirds majority for passage, and if passed, the mail ballot on that issue shall be held within two weeks.
Amendments to this Constitution may be offered by the Faculty Council or by any voting member of the Faculty at a regularly scheduled Faculty Meeting. Proposed amendments shall be promptly distributed to all members of the Faculty by the Secretary.
